

Assistant Professor/Associate Professor in Family Medicine

Florida International University is a comprehensive university offering 340 majors in 188 degree programs in 23 colleges and schools, with innovative bachelor's, master's and doctoral programs across all disciplines including medicine, public health, law, journalism, hospitality, and architecture. FIU is Carnegie-designated as both a research university with high research activity and a community-engaged university. Located in the heart of the dynamic south Florida urban region, our multiple campuses serve over 50,000 students, placing FIU among the ten largest universities in the nation. Our annual research expenditures in excess of $100 million and our deep commitment to engagement have made FIU the go-to solutions center for issues ranging from local to global. FIU leads the nation in granting bachelor's degrees, including in the STEM fields, to minority students and is first in awarding STEM master's degrees to Hispanics. Our students, faculty, and staff reflect Miami's diverse population, earning FIU the designation of Hispanic-Serving Institution. At FIU, we are proud to be 'Worlds Ahead'! For more information about FIU, visit fiu.edu.

The Florida International University (FIU) Herbert Wertheim College of Medicine seeks applicants for an exciting faculty position at the Assistant/Associate Professor level, in the Department of Humanities, Health, and Society, Division of Family Medicine. The Department is comprised of three interrelated Divisions that work closely together toward the goal of social responsibility in Medicine: Family Medicine, Policy and Community Development, and Medicine and Society.

The faculty will be a member of a team developing groundbreaking, innovative approaches to medical education and clinical activities focused on the needs of South Florida's culturally diverse, medically underserved communities. Our aim is to graduate culturally competent, social responsible physicians and to simultaneously provide service to medical underserved populations. The primary responsibility will be supervising medical students and residents in the longitudinal Green Family Foundation Medicine and Society/Family Medicine curriculum, a unique educational model that reflects a collaborative, inter-professional approach to educating future physicians. Faculty will supervise students and residents in the classroom and during clinical care activities in a variety of settings, including the home, a mobile health care van, and community-based health care sites. Faculty will be responsible for teaching clinical skills, social determinants of health, social accountability and continue to build and expand the College of Medicine. Our department is expanding rapidly. Multiple positions are available. We are looking for individuals who will take on key roles in our community engaged primary care medical home model reaching underserved populations.

Minimum qualifications include a terminal degree in the medical sciences (M.D. or D.O.). Must be board certified or obtain Board Certification within 1 year of employment. Must have a Florida medical license or be able to obtain a medical license in the state of Florida. Preferred qualifications include experience, fellowship, or master's degree in any of the following: medical education, residency administration, patient-centered medical home, information technology, research, maternal and child health, behavioral science, geriatrics, or public health.

Qualified candidates are encouraged to apply to Job Opening ID (505618) at <http://careers.fiu.edu> and attach letter of interest, curriculum vitae and listing of three professional references in a single pdf file.

FIU is a member of the State University System of Florida and is an Equal Opportunity, Equal Access Affirmative Action Employer.