

The Value of your FAFP Membership

The Florida Academy of Family Physicians proudly represents more than 6,500 family physicians, residents, and medical student members throughout the state. Family physicians play a critical role in improving the health of patients, families and communities across the United States. The FAFP is committed to helping family physicians improve the health of all Floridians by advancing the specialty of family medicine, saving members' time and maximizing the value of membership. Our focus every day is to help family physicians spend more time doing what they do best: providing quality and cost effective patient care. The Academy delivers value to its members through each of its strategic priorities in the following ways:

	Education FAFP sets the standard for lifelong medical education.	Advocacy FAFP amplifies the voice of Florida's individual family physicians.	Health of the Public FAFP helps family physicians quickly access preventive health and chronic disease management programs for their patients, families and communities.	Practice Enhancement FAFP helps family physicians run healthier practices.
Advancing the specialty of family medicine	FAFP provides practice-relevant CME to improve patient outcomes for our members and support increased student interest through our residency graduates.	FAFP is engaging with payers to achieve payment reform. We support improved federal funding for family medicine residency programs.	FAFP supports our member's impact on communities through outpatient visits to family physicians each year.	FAFP promotes practice enhancement models to improve the quality and cost efficiency of care.
Saving members' time	FAFP provides easy access to high-quality, specialty-specific CME that members trust.	FAFP amplifies individual member advocacy by using our strength in numbers to Florida legislature.	FAFP reinforces patient education by developing excellent evidence-based resources for immunizations and tobacco control through FAFP resources.	FAFP supports our members by providing services that reduce administrative burdens.
Maximizing the value of membership	FAFP annually provides CME programming to members.	Membership dollars directly fund Florida advocacy efforts.	FAFP provides evidence-based clinical practice guidelines for our members to improve the care of their patients.	FAFP enhances practice revenue and the payment environment through increased integration of health technology, quality improvement, and practice innovation.
